

Texting Statistics That Answer All Your Questions

Kenneth Burke <https://www.textrequest.com/>

How many texts do people send?

Americans send roughly 26,033,333,333 (26 billion) text messages every day.

On average, each American sends and receives 94 text messages per day.

On average, each American sends and receives 2,819 text messages per month.

On average, each American sends and receives 33,834 text messages per year.

1,084,722,222 texts are sent every hour in the United States.

18,078,704 texts are sent every minute in the United States.

301,312 texts are sent every second in the United States.

Sources: Statistic Brain Research Institute, Text Request

How many texts do teenagers send?

American teenagers send and receive 67 text messages per day, on average.

American teenagers send and receive 24,120 text messages per year on average.

Source: Pew Research Center

How much time do people spend texting?

Americans spend as much as 55 minutes a day texting. Americans spend twice more time texting than emailing on their phones.

College students spend an average of 94.6 minutes texting per day.

Sources: Text Request, Ericsson, RealityMine and AdWeek, PsychCentral, Psychology of Popular Media and MarketWatch, Gallup